Université de Tunis

Student Entrepreneur – Sustainable Ventures (Wafeer & Omiyummy)
November 2023 - September 2024 (11 months)

As part of the Student Entrepreneur Program, led two ventures from ideation to market validation. With Wafeer, a nettle-based fertilizer in the agri-tech sector, the project advanced from concept to pilot phase, generating revenue from 50+ adopters while experimenting with market pivoting, dynamic pricing models, and sustainable farming practices. With Omiyummy, a food-tech initiative offering ready-to-eat Tunisian meals, the focus was on managing production and supply chain processes, including food conservation, production planning, inventory control, and distribution logistics, while validating demand through B2B and B2BC channels.

Both ventures provided hands-on exposure to the entrepreneurship core: financial management, business development, market research, go-to-market strategy, marketing and branding, pitching for visibility, and operational execution.
